

13TH ANNUAL PEAK CYBER SYMPOSIUM

SPEAKER BIO

Kevin Rohan
Chief Architect for Cybersecurity
for North America
Oracle (ret.)

Over Kevin's 38-year career, he worked for several aerospace companies and then for product companies, Sun Microsystems, and Oracle. In the early 1980's, at Ford Aerospace (now Lockheed), he worked on one of the few Orange Book's A1 security projects ever released, developing an Internet security gateway. He was recognized in the Who's Who of the Internet. He continued to work with security systems throughout his career, ending at Oracle as the Chief Architect for Cybersecurity for North America where he also was the DISA interface for Solaris and Oracle Linux STIGs. He happily retired at the end of 2021. Kevin has a Degree in Computer Science and is a CISSP.
